I would like to let you know as well that this kind of business is quite new on the market and the people are very surprised when they see us on the street and they encourage selling us what a good idea and interesting is to sell wood fired pizza from a van.

We been participating to a few festivals and events in the last month and the people really enjoyed the pizza from our van. We been in London (Fulham Palace) for a 3 weeks film festival and we had an amazing success. We been as well in Surrey for an event (family day out) and all families and kids loved our pizza.

Our brand new van is fitted with the last generation of equipment and a professional wood fired oven build specially for us.

I chose the Headington area because I have a lots of friends who are studying and living in Headington, I told them about my idea and they "push me" to get a place in Headington. This area don't give many choices to buy food and I personally think the pizza which we make it is a healthy option for students than the kebab van and all the fast food which is on the streets in this days. Our pizza ~~have~~ is made from fresh ingredients and is cooked in 45 seconds in a wood fired oven.

I hope you can help me to get into the business and have the chance to serve the customers with my best food and service.

If you need any references I will provide them with no problems.

Kind regards
IONUT-DANIEL POPA
